The most difficult part of detecting and curing colon cancer has always been getting patients to come in for an examination. Just hearing the word "Colonoscopy" would conjure up images of an unpleasant, lengthy and inconvenient experience. Unfortunately, that negative perception has resulted in 80-85% of the population never getting screened.

But all that has changed thanks to V3D-Colon from Viatronix. Utilizing virtual imaging technologies, Viatronix has perfected an advanced, patient-friendly procedure that is changing the very image of "Colonoscopy."

The unique benefits include:

- A non-invasive procedure ←
- A 15-minute examination as opposed to 2 hours ←
- Enhanced detection of polyps as small as 3mm ←
- More comfortable, agreeable preparation ←
- "Electronic cleansing" ←
- No patient sedation ←
- A less expensive, more efficient examination ←
